

JESUS DEL VALLE / MALASAÑA

Universidad / Madrid

€2,500

There are apartments that are not just visited, they are felt.

You go up the stairs, open the door... and everything falls into place.

In a stately building from 1900, where the architecture preserves its character and light takes center stage, we find this 140 m² built property located on a third exterior floor.

The heart of the apartment is a living-dining room, bathed in natural light and with direct access to two balconies that connect the interior with the life of the neighborhood. The semi-open, fully equipped kitchen integrates elegantly into the space.

It features two double en-suite bedrooms, both with full bathrooms, designed to offer privacy and comfort. In addition, the property includes a guest toilet and practical built-in wardrobes that optimize storage. The three balconies provide cross ventilation and a constant sense of spaciousness. The apartment is equipped with hot/cold air conditioning via ducts and individual natural gas heating. Although it doesn't have an elevator, it's an apartment you'll fall in love with.
